Overview

Professional ultrasonic machine for folding, forming, and bonding filter paper with high efficiency, excellent sealing performance, and reduced production cost, suitable for automotive filter production lines.

Description

The ECO Ultrasonic Filter Paper Folding & Bonding Machine is an advanced solution designed for folding, forming, and bonding filter paper in the filter core lapping process. It utilizes ultrasonic technology to achieve precise and strong bonding without the need for traditional adhesives, improving final product quality and reducing production costs.

The machine offers high production efficiency of 8–13 pieces per minute with stable performance and excellent sealing quality. It is resistant to high temperatures and corrosion, making it suitable for continuous industrial production lines.

With its compact design and easy operation, this machine is an ideal choice for automotive filter manufacturers seeking high quality, cost efficiency, and advanced production technology.
